Daniel in the lions den

Rubens painted his 'Lions den' (National Gallery of Art in Washington, inv./cat.nr 1948) somewhere between 1613-1617. Some of the preparatory studies for the original were preserved. The original by Rubens knew an instant-success and this religious depiction was widely copied. The dimensions of our painting make us believe it had a private destination instead of a religious one.

Oil on panel, 45,5 x 60,5 cm
